WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF

PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME

A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITES, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL SCROFULOUS HUMORS

THE Proprietor has succeeded (from directions of Professor Jones) in combining the Oil and Lime so perfectly that the taste of the Oil, which is nauseous to persons generally, is entirely removed and it can be taken by the most delicate females with pleasure. And as regards the benefit of this article over the clear oil the following has by Prof Stone is sufficient to convince the most skeptical. The young lady was twenty-four years of age

"Her disease was one of unusual phthisic which had been expected to terminate in the course of a few months, fatally. The upper part of both her lungs were filled with tubercles, and in some places were beginning to soften. The case was evidently a bad one. The treatment of Cod Liver Oil was at first used but without marked improvement. The Phosphate of Lime was then administered with the oil and the result, as in the case of many others was soon apparent. The patient was rapidly getting well."

CAUTION.—On account of the great reputation of this Compound for all lung complaints, the subscriber would caution the afflicted against using any except that manufactured by him, as he has the only recipe in the United States for combining the Cod Liver Oil with lime in a proper manner. Therefore if you value your health, purchase none except that manufactured by

PROFESSOR ALEX C BARRY'S

or Medicated Compound,

FOR beautifying, improving, and preserving the Hair, curing scalds, bruises burns stings, rheumatism, and all irritations of the skin. A preparation the sale of which amounts to one million of bottles annually, would seem to need no advertisement, but as the thousands who purchase, use and approve of it have probably no idea of the enormous extent of the business done by Professor Barry, he gives herewith a plain statement of facts derived from his books, and with them tenders his earnest and hearty thanks to his innumerable patrons

Professor Barry's accounts of sales for the year 1852, show that during that year about 910 000 bottles of his Tricophenous were disposed of, and that the cash product of this immense sale was nearly $100 000

This plain unvarnished tale, is a better commentary on the value of the article than any thing the inventor could say. If it were not positive in its effect upon the hair—if it were not invaluable as a household remedy for cuts, bruises burns, skin diseases, &c—it would not, of course be so universally in demand. The wealthy portion of the public could buy it at any price but Professor Barry has reduced it to a figure so low that the poorest can avail themselves of its benefits

Sold in large bottles (price 25 cents) at wholesale and retail, at the manufactory and depot 137 Broadway, New York and by the principal merchants and druggists throughout the United States and Canada, Mexico, West Indies, Great Britain, France, &c

This iron combines economy, convenience, saving of labor, and despatch, one cent's worth of fuel is all supplies fuel for a whole days constant ironing. Hard wood coal from the stove will answer the same purpose. It can be used in any room or in the open air. NILE BOAT LOTUS, TOWN OF ATFEH.

ARRIVAL AT ALEXANDRIA.—COMMENCEMENT OF VOYAGE UP THE NILE

MESSRS EDITORS:—We came in sight of the city of Alexandria at the dawn of day. It was a calm and beautiful morning. No clouds obscured the sky. The surface of the sea was unbroken, except where at intervals it dashed its foam gently over the breakers. On our right, as we approached the city, a long line of low, sandy hills was seen in the distance. Large sea birds in great numbers came around us. They seemed to rejoice in our coming, sometimes soaring upwards far into the blue deep, and then descending upon their broad white wings, till they fanned the sails of the vessel. As we were looking at the city, more beautiful in the distance than on a nearer inspection, a boat was seen approaching from the harbor. A swarthy Turk, his head bound with a turban, came on board, whose business it was to act as our pilot. Under the direction of this dark and thoughtful eye the vessel moved slowly along the narrow and winding channel. On our left was the Isle of Pharos, on our right was the pillar of Pompey. The harbor was full of merchant vessels, steamers, and ships of war. The flags of many nations floated around us. The rising sun, gilding with light the objects which it touched, gave new splendor to the scene. For the first time, I saw the crescent flag unfurled. It floated broadly and proudly, the emblem of Mohammedan power.

We had no sooner come to anchor than a number of boats made their appearance around the ship. They were manned by Arab sailors, clad in a rude dress which but partially covered their sunburnt bodies, and speaking in an unknown language, they were clamorous for the privilege of conveying us on shore. Through narrow streets which bore in general the marks of poverty, we were conducted to the quarter which is inhabited by Europeans. At an early opportunity, as we had but little time to spare, we made ourselves acquainted with what is to be seen in the various places of the city. Such has been the vicissitudes of commerce, and the ravages of time and war, that but few objects of special interest remain. One of them is the beautiful obelisk in the Eastern part of the city, called Cleopatra's needle, seventy feet in height, and covered with hieroglyphics. It appears from hieroglyphic inscriptions on the obelisk itself, that it was the work of Thothmes the Third, the Egyptian king who ruled in the time of Moses. Some portions of whose history have been brought to light in the numerous hieroglyphical monuments of Egypt. It was originally erected at Heliopolis, and was brought down to Alexandria in the time of the Ptolemies. It is as high, wanting a few feet, as the obelisk of Luxor, which I had seen in the place De la Concorde in Paris. Near it is another large obelisk, lying upon the ground, and at the present time nearly covered with earth.

In another part of the city, favorably situated on the summit of a small elevation, is the beautiful column called Pompey's Pillar. It is said to have been the centre of the ancient city, which extended in this direction towards the lake Mareotis. Different opinions are entertained as to the time when it was erected. But as I travel for health chiefly, I am obliged to leave antiquarian inquiries to others. It is ten feet in diameter, and ninety feet in height, exclusive of its Corinthian capital. It is a very striking object, beautiful in its position, as well as in its symmetry and great height. At the foot of the gently rising hill on which it stands, is an extensive Mohammedan grave yard, filled with its rude white monuments.

Among other objects and places of attraction, we found time to visit the palace of the Pasha, which overlooks what is denominated the "old harbor," and were pleasantly surprised at the taste and elegance with which it is fitted up. It was the varied and gorgeous richness of Orientalism, with scarcely a violation of a just and severe simplicity. Surrounded with gardens filled with the ever blooming trees and flowers of the East, it reminded one of those enchanted palaces which Oriental poets and romancers love to describe.

It must be admitted, that Alexandria at the present time, is far from being what it was once. In the period of its early prosperity, it was fifteen miles in circumference, and contained six hundred thousand inhabitants, including slaves. At present, its population is said to amount to sixty thousand. Some writers place the number higher. It has long ceased to be the emporium of commerce, and the seat of science and the arts. Comparative poverty has taken the place of the immense wealth which it once gathered from the contributions of many nations. The high civilization, which in the days of the Ptolemies attracted the notice of other States and communities, has gone back, at least among considerable portions of the people, to a state of semi barbarism. But humanity with its good and evil, is not extinct. The Turk, though a follower of Mohammed, is still a man, and not without his capacities of intellect and feeling. The poor Arab beneath his rude garment bears a heart which has been described as treacherous and cruel, but which I am obliged to say exhibited kindness to me. The beauty of nature still remains, and amid many things which are strange, and some things which are unpleasant there is much to please both the eye and heart.

I walked through some of the Bazaars. Much business is still done in them. The Turkish merchant, meditative, and never in a hurry, sits cross-legged, seldom without his pipe, and tenacious of the dignity of his flowing beard and turban. Various are the dresses and languages. There are traders from different nations, and in the persecutions to which they have been subjected at home, many Italians have found their way here. Many of the streets are narrow and dirty, but there is a clear blue sky above them. Carriages there are none, but men and veiled women are riding on diminutive donkeys. Camels with heavy burdens, reminding us of the days of the patriarchs, march slowly through the streets.

On the third day after our arrival, we sailed in a beautiful boat, called the Lotus, on a two months voyage up the Nile; the great river, which has not only fertilized Egypt, but nourished humanity! We were four in number; the same little company who have traversed together France, Savoy, and the different States of Italy, and who have found the attractions of travel enhanced by the pleasure of each other's society. We started from the South side of the city, with a favorable breeze, on the Mahmoudie Canal, which connects Alexandria with the Nile at Atfeh, the place from which I date this letter. The part of the city which extends in the direction of the canal, and which may be said to rest upon it, contrasts advantageously with the other parts. There are many good buildings in this part of Alexandria, and a higher cultivation. By the side of the streets, and on the banks of the canal, are the palm tree, the sycamore, and the acacia with its "yellow hair." It was here that we heard for the first time the hoarse whoop of the sakhia, by which the water is drawn up from the canal for irrigating the lands. The large and well watered gardens are rich with the productions of the climate, and gorgeous with the hues of Eastern flowers.

The canal connecting Alexandria and the Nile is a little more than forty miles in length and twenty feet wide. This canal is undoubtedly an extraordinary work for modern Egypt where there are so few evidences of practical energy and improvement. A hundred and fifty thousand men, called from all parts of the country by the despotic will of the late Mehemed Ali, where employed in excavation in a single year, but at the end of some thirty thousand workmen who perished through want, fatigue and cruelty.

In going through the canal we are passed numerous boats from ten to thirty and forty tons burden. They are on their way to Alexandria from different places on the Nile, and are loaded with the product of the country, particularly wheat and cotton. We have had these for a favorable breeze, and our boat throwing out her large lofty sail has advanced with good speed.

The crew are in excellent spirits. With the exception of our pilot, they all seem to be of Arabic descent. Many of them have friends at the different towns and villages which we expected to pass. Our captain lives at Ghizeh, nearly opposite the celebrated Tenderah, and more than five hundred miles above Alexandria. He has to be cheerful. His wife and children are there. Our pilot is a Nubian. His name is Hassan. He is not swarthy like the natives of Egypt but black of the deepest hue. His full muscular form is in perfect proportions. He walks erect, and with a natural firm step. His countenance is open and generous. His eye is darkness lighted. When he speaks he accompanies what he says with a natural movement of the hands and body, which is full of dignity and grace. No one can see him without feeling that he has a capacity above his situation. He has a wife and children at Assouan near the first cataracts of the Nile.

When I look upon these people, and study their characters, and little personal histories, I cannot harmonize with those persons who speak contemptuously of them. I have seen enough of them already to know that they have the ties and sympathies which humanity recognizes, and which religion sanctifies. Ismence exiled by a haughty despotism, had been compelled to beg out them not are has not forgotten to be their teacher. Their affections are buried in the ruins of the intellect. They ad of them have a spot which they call their home. The past lives in their memories, and the clay built but of the fathers is still dear to their hearts.

After waiting an hour and a half for the passage of others boats, we have just gone down the locks. We are now on the broad bosom of the Nile, or rather on one of its branches, which however, is a mighty river, about three-quarters of a mile in width. The flag of America is floating over us. We are sailing under the town of Atfeh, which is at the termination of the canal, and on the high, rich banks which overlook the river. And this at Atfeh that I date and close my letters as I look around me upon the land of Goshen and cast my thoughts forward to Cairo and the Pyramids, to Denderah and Thebes.

V.

We were not a little interested in the great number of aged and venerable men that appeared as delegates in our late Democratic Convention.—Norway Advertiser.

Yes, we perceive that the venerable Joshua Carpenter was present. We have heard from him since the Delia Bodge affair in Hunnoon's time. The Colonel brought a birth-day from Gen Jackson to endorse his friend Cass's qualifications for Governor. Some solemn wag asked him whether his conversation with the Old Hero occurred before or after his death? The Colonel looked hard at the inquirer, for a moment, and then replied, with remarkable presence of mind, that it was before the event.—Kennebec Journal.

Not the Delia Bodge affair, the affair of another woman.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE BY MRS ROBINSON IN THE TROY JAIL. The Troy (N. Y.) Post of yesterday says,—

"Mrs. Robinson, in jail on a charge of murder, attempted to poison herself on Saturday afternoon, by taking vitriol. She was asleep at noon of that day, when her cell was visited. About 4 P. M., she was discovered vomiting, and on being questioned said that she had taken vitriol to kill herself she had been trouble enough and wished to die. Drs Brainard and Adams were called in and were successful in their efforts to save her after she had suffered much from vomiting. The Special Court now sitting was convened to try her and acquitted."

OLD BUTTER. A well was cleaned out at Lawrenceburg, Indiana, last week, in which was found two firkins of butter, in a state of entire preservation although they had been in the well at least fourteen years, as the well has been closed up for the length of time. The buckets were much rusted, and the outside of the butter was dirty, but after scraping a little of the exterior off, it looked as natural as if churned the day before, and did not smell near as strong as some that is sold in the stores.

The city government of Worcester has appropriated $95,000 for the expenses of the next fiscal year. The city debt is $108,000, which will be reduced $7300. In addition to the sum to be raised to meet the expenses of the city, there is this year a State tax of $5601 and a county tax of $9,450, levied upon Worcester, making the whole taxes amount to $1 0,054.

Hon. Wm. B. Banister of Newburyport, who died a week or two since, has left the principal portion of his property, say about $40,000, to be divided equally to the American Bible Society, the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, the American Education Society, the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, and the American Colonization Society.

Capt. Luce of the steamship Arctic published a statement in regard to the eastern passage of the Arctic and Arabia, about which so much has been said. According to Capt. Luce's statement, the Arctic beat the Arabia just two minutes.

According to Hunt's Merchant's Magazine, the amount of money circulating in the United States, is $296,877,257—being $13 for each inhabitant. It was $11 in 1836 and 1838, and in 1839 only $6 60.

THANKSGIVING. The Governor and Council of New Hampshire have taken time by the forelock, and appointed Thursday, the 24th of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

Another accident occurred at the New York Hippodrome on Monday evening. During the race between six female and horseback two of the horses fell, injuring their riders—but no great extent, is not reported.

An Irishman said in reply to a question, that there was something in the air of Ireland that made the people make bulls, and added he, "if an American were born there, he would do the same."

One of Queen Victoria's state balls, it is said, requires an expenditure of half a million of dollars, for dresses and jewelry. The Lord Chamberlain, therefore, approves of state balls.

WHIG NOMINATION.

FOR GOVERNOR,

WILLIAM C. CROSBY.

VALUE OF GOOD TASTE.

It is singular that there are so few persons who understand how far good taste will go in obviating expense, and how many there are who will accuse a thrifty man or woman of extravagance, whose house or grounds or furniture, or dress, are more indebted for their attractive appearance to the excellent taste of their possessors, than to the money that was expended upon them.

A few years since we were riding up on a retired road, and were so struck with the tasteful appearance of a little cottage standing a short distance from the roadside with its lawn in front filled with pretty arranged shrubbery with its little latice by its door covered with a vine, and with the extreme neatness that prevailed everywhere about it, that we almost involuntarily stopped to discover the secret of its attractiveness. What was our surprise to find the house a whole washed building worth one or two hundred dollars, the trellis made of common rough laths covered with a hop vine, and the shrubbery in the yard simply cinnamon roses and a few lilacs. The husband was a man of simple habits though good nature but the wife was one of those women of good taste and, again as who would have things pretty about her, whether she had much or little to get them with. But where we have seen one such place as this, we have seen hundreds, with owners as well assumed as these that would not have made keep stable hog-pens.

In towns, a few shrubs in the vacant spots around the house, or a single mouthy honeysuckle, if there is room for nothing else, well trained, and a few pots in pots, in doors or out of doors, according to the season indicate taste, and a lady who has them and gives them the attention they require daily and yearly—not by fits and starts—in nine cases out of ten will be found to be a model housewife, and you will see all things else of which she has the supervision, as well cared for and looked after as her plants.

Good taste shows itself in the arrangement of colors, in the arrangement of grounds, of furniture, of apparel. But it does not always come naturally. It may be cultivated as well as a shrub or a tree. The happy blending of colors, by a little observation and study may be easily acquired and in cases the good taste which many ladies in small means acquire, enables them to make a better display in the streets than many whose wealth does not require very strict economy of expenditure. So in the arrangement of furniture, the happy selection of a carpet, the location of a chair and a sofa, of little articles of ornament, and the putting up a curtain, may be such as to deceive most men as to what could have been the expense of fitting up the room, and a woman who understands it may make her husband, with strangers, pass for a man of much greater wealth than he is.

And a man by getting a tasteful plan for his house—which he may do as easily, and with as much regard to economy, as he can a plan without reference to beauty—can make as good an appearance as his wealthy neighbor, and with vastly more credit among his acquaintances, with a stranger will consider him a man of equal fortune.

Men must have money to live, but without good taste they can do with far less than where they are destitute of it. Later where then the same had at so little cost, and is the basis of so much gratification, is an object more worthy of consideration than it is usually esteemed.

ONE MORE AMENDMENT WANTED. John B. Hum, Esq., in a speech at the State Temperance Convention on Thursday evening, remarked that there was one more amendment necessary to make the Maine law what it should be, and that was to make the penalty for selling imprisonment for the first offence.—We have thought that it was a mistake in not making this the penalty in the first draft of the law. Where the penalty is only fine for the first offence, liquor sellers will be willing to run a great deal of risk. They can and do unquestionably sell hundreds of times before they are detected once, and when they are detected this once, they must only pay $20 and costs and then they can put the business into other hands and seem to have no interest in it, and I well go on for their benefit as before, until this second man is detected, when the business goes into still other hands, and so on ad infinitum. If they knew that imprisonment awaited the first offence, there are few who would be willing to run the risk of detection at all.

Then if the offence of selling liquor is so serious a crime, why should it not be treated as other crimes are? All crimes of as high a nature as larceny, are punished by imprisonment for the first offence, and are unanimous. Should rum selling be upon any better footing?

STATE TEMPERANCE CONVENTION.

This convention was very well attended by persons from all parts of the State, and its influence for good will be felt.

The Maine Law was the principal subject of discussion, and we are of opinion that if any were present who ever doubted that the Democratic Convention were opposed to that law, they were cured of their doubts, over and over again.

On Thursday evening the City Hall was crowded to overflowing, and was addressed by Rev. S. C. Fessenden of Rockland, by John B. Hill, Esq. of Bangor, and Noah Smith, Esq. of Calais, Representative to the Legislature, and others, whose remarks were listened to with attention and frequently applauded.

EDITH MORTON. A Temperance Tale by Mrs Maria L. Bickler. It is published in neat pamphlet form, of forty-eight pages. The Northern Light, in speaking of the work, says the plot is well conceived and most admirably carried out, while all through the story the interest is sustained in a masterly manner, and that it ought to find its way to the fireside of every temperate and intemperate family.

☞ The dwelling house of Mr Asa Pickery in Solon, was burnt on the morning of the 20th July. The fire is supposed to have caught from a defect in the chimney. Loss $2000.

☞ Thomas J. Pratt has been appointed postmaster at Palmyra, Me., in place of J. Pollard, removed.

State Temperance Convention.

The Business Committee reported the following resolutions

[The first resolution affirmed the vital importance of temperance.]

2. Resolved That the chief point in the Maine Law at present to be apprehended is the party combinations of political men against it.

3. Resolved That the Maine Law is the great question in this State, and that that party which ignores it, whether it be, in the language of The Maine Expositor, the "Democracy," or any other party is condemned thereby totally unworthy of the support of freemen.

4. Resolved That we seek to form no political organization or raise any political issue. We go immediately for the support of the Maine Law, and in this great work we recognize all men who are friendly to that enterprise as our friends, and we cheerfully accord to our enemies; and we feel bound to treat all nominees for office whom friends can elect that Law, as far as we are against us, and we can elect that refuses to declare his position, when respectfully requested so to do, a unworthy of our support, and shall be treated accordingly at the polls.

5. Resolved, That the State Central Committee be instructed to call as soon as possible a State convention in each county in the State and that early and general notice be given of each meeting.

Eleven o'clock was assigned as the hour to consider the subject of raising funds.

The convention was then addressed by Messrs. Strout of Bangor, Harris of Prospect, Vinton of Gray, and Thurston of Sangerville.

Mr Peck addressed the convention on the matter of raising funds, and on his motion, the topic was postponed till three o'clock in the afternoon.

From that time to the adjournment for dinner, the convention was addressed by Mr Waterman of Unity and Mr. Hawkins.

Adjourned to meet at one o'clock.

Thursday afternoon President Pickering in the chair.—Prayer by Rev Mr. Mason of Hampden.

The Resolutions above were in order for discussion, and speeches were made by Mr Farrar of Portland, A. P. Morrill of Readfield and Dr Noah Buzzell of Portland.

At three o'clock the subject of raising funds was taken up, and money to the amount of $360 pledged by the various delegations.

The resolutions were further discussed by Messrs. Porter, of Bangor, Dillon of Rockland, and Hawkins, and, on vote, unanimously adopted.

Adjourned to seven o'clock evening.

THURSDAY EVENING.

Vice President G. W. Bourne in the Chair. Prayer by Rev Mr Thurston.

Addresses were made by Rev Mr. Kalloch, of Rockland, Noah Smith, Jr. Esq., of Calais, Rev S. C. Fessenden and A. S. Richmond of Rockland, Mr Thurston of Searsport, Webster of Bangor, and Peck of Portland, and Hill of Bangor.

"Old Hundred" was then sung and the convention adjourned.

IMPORTANT TREASURY CIRCULAR.—General instructions to Collectors and others of the Customs under the act of March 3 1853, regulating the appraisement of imported merchandise.

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT, July 10, 1853.

your special attention is called to the following instructions in regard to the appraisement of merchandise under the act of March 3, 1853, additional to and modifications of the circular instructions from this department dated March 27, 1851.

The invoice cost of foreign merchandise imported by the oath required by law will be held and taken as the importer's declaration of value at the port and time of shipment, but conclusive against the importer, unless before entering the same the said importer under oath shall show a decline in value between the time of such purchase and the date of shipment and the amount thereof, in which case such declared value shall be conclusive against the importer but in other cases, the appraisers will determine and fix such actual value as the law and the facts may warrant.

RELIGIOUS SUMMARY.

Rev. Mr Goodell and wife, Rev Mr Bird and wife, and Mrs Schneider and son missionaries of the American Board, embarked at Boston for the East, July 20th, in the barque Sultan.

Rev Dr Revel, whose mission to this country was in search of aid for the Waldensian Synod has obtained some $4000 toward the fund for erecting the church at Pignerol, and sailed for Europe in the Baltic.

The young men connected with the Boston young men's Christian Association have organized themselves into a Bible class and are now procuring maps, charts, books, &c. They propose to extend this investigation to all departments of knowledge, for the illustration of the geography, productions and history of Palestine and the countries adjacent from the earliest period until the present time.

Dr Henry B Smith will fill the chair of Systematic Theology in Union Theological Seminary, made vacant by resignation of Prof. Wilson, and will also continue his lectures on Ecclesiastical History.

Rev J T Bossen, Rev. J. H Lacy Rev J. Dennard, Baptist Missionaries to Central Africa with their wives, embarked at Boston for Lagos, on 6th of July.

Distributor, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who recently sailed from America, and appointed to labor with Mr Dunmore, has arrived at their field of labor. Mr Dunmore he says, "has in the midst of many and diverse trials, done a noble work, and the promise of good is great." A congregation of one hundred and fifty and two hundred listen attentively and eagerly to the truth. An English Protestant Consul is soon to be stationed at this city.

Amoulangar, Mr. Münger has, recently made a preaching tour of one hundred and thirty-five days, travelling nearly one thousand miles and visiting four hundred towns and villages. He visited the city of Pandharpoor containing 20,000 inhabitants the great annual festival of Vithoba was being held at this place. Thousands of pilgrims were offering sacrifice to that most licentious deity Krishna there in the bed of the river, and while the people were engaged in this worship "and he" I for four days in the name of our God set up our banner and preached Christ the hope of glory, and thousands turned away from the songs and praises of Krishna to hear of the Saviour of the world for the first time.

Madura Mission Mr. M'Millan spent a Sabbath at Corse portly, and admitted twelve persons to christian fellowship, some of whom had once been Romanists, others were heathen. The intelligence from this field of missionary is very interesting.

Ceylon A letter from Mr. Williams of March 26, gives many interesting items of the Chinese Rebellion. The missionaries have reason to think the issue of the contest will be favorable to missionary operations. The chiefs in this movement are all of them Canton men, and most of them are disappointed literary graduates, finding the avenues to dignity and office shut against them, they have taken this means to redress their fancied wrongs, they have issued proclamations evincing considerable knowledge of the leading outlines of christianity. Where they obtained this knowledge is not certainly known, but the most credible rumors among the Chinese are, that several of Mr Gutzlaff's men possess influential posts in their ranks, and have directed the destruction of the idols, the temples in most cases being preserved.

Gaboon Mission Mr Walker and Mr Ford are laboring at their posts with success, Mr Bushnell is now in his country. This mission has a boarding day-school for boys containing some thirty-five scholars, and is under the Superintendence of Dr Ford. The school at Baraka is in charge of Mrs Preston. The mission need reinforcement. Rev Mr Pierce of Philadelphia, now in this city, has been appointed to labor in this field.

Syria Dr Bird recent mentions in a letter of May 6th many incidents of interest. At Sidon there is much religious interest with an active zeal on the part of the resident Protestants. There is also much interest being awakened among the nominal christians, villages in the mountain district. They are eager to hear the truth though not for the love of it, but to learn something new.

The American Seamens Friend Society has just received from Rev Titus Coan, who labors at Hilona the Sandwich Islands one hundred dollars to promote the work of that public institution.

The London Ragged School Union has now 116 Schools, 221 paid teachers, 1787 voluntary teachers. The scholars are, in the day schools 8,098, in week evening schools 5,832, in Sabbath Schools 11,733, industrial classes 2,040.

The London City Mission has now 300 missionaries. They have distributed 4 013, copies of the Scriptures; and 1,766,131 tracts and through instrumentality 5783 have been induced to attend the schools. Income of the year $128,169.

The address of Bishop Burgess at the thirty fourth annual convention of the diocese of Maine, gives the number of parishes in the diocese 12 clergy in the diocese 15, candidates for orders 3, confirmations during the year 53, corner stones of churches laid 2, churches consecrated 3.

There are in the United States 36,000 houses of worship capable of accomodating some 14,000,000 persons, and valued at $86,416,839.

"DIGEST" Such is the meaning of the word "PEPSIN," or of the two Greek words from which it is derived. This is the significant and appropriate title of the TRUE DIGESTIVE FLUID, or GASTRIC JUICE, prepared by Dr J. S. HOUGHTON, of Philadelphia, from the fourth Stomach of the Ox, for the cure of Dyspepsia and Dyspepsia. It is Nature's own remedy for its cure. Dyspepsia. Hearty if man can equal in extensive powers, GOOD EATING without pain, with HEALTH, on the digestive organs, this is another part of the story.

REMOVAL.

DR. TURNBULL, Oculist and Aurist, from London, has removed from N Y Hotel to Winthrop House, Boston Office hours from 8 to 2

[From the London Times.]

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr Turnbull in Russell street, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness. Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom it was stated by their parents had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr Turnbull's remedies, and also appears most conclusive that whether the disease depended on the paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been obtained, or complete cure effected without pain or inconvenience. Several patients who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. jy 28 3w

The Best Pills in the World.

HARDYS FAMILY VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILLS are the best that can be found in any country for Jaundice, and all Bilious troubles, Dyspepsia, Colds, Rheumatism, and every complaint in which the stomach or bowels need evacuation or regulating. Yankees have boasted their unequalled skill and talent for every contrivance the human head can devise or hands regenerate; why then, turn with scorning and contempt even towards every new medicine with a foreign name? Yankees can, and do, beat all creation in every thing they attempt. Then disciple your Mustang, Kangaroo, Johnsonian, Hyena, and other such Yankeeish medicines, and call at Hardy's No. 3 Harlow's Block, where you will find, not only the best Pills, but the best Medicines in existence for all the ills that flesh is heir to" (except lean pockets) and the best Horse and Ox Medicines besides. SEWING MACHINE!

Secured by Two Distinct Patents!

THESE extraordinary Machines have had numerous diplomas and medals awarded to them, as the best sewing machines ever devised. They now form one of the most attractive features of the Great Exhibition at the Crystal Palace in New York.

The proprietors have so perfected their great manufactory in New York, are now able to produce the Machines at a cheaper sale, and have determined to give the benefit to the public, by reducing the price $25. Hereafter these betterlist Machines will be sold at the first of our regular offices for $100 Cash, without deduction or discount.

Of the admirable qualities of those Machines for all the work of the Clothier, Tailor, Shoe Manufacturer, Saddler, Carriage Trimmer, Cap Maker, and Corset Maker, it is unnecessary to speak—The character of these machines for these branches of business is established and they are universally admitted to be the most perfect instruments for the purpose ever devised. The clear profit on each machine is from $500 to $1000 a year, depending on the fashionableness and difficulty of the work done—We therefore recall the particular attention of Shirt and Collar manufacturers to our machine for stitching fine linen and cotton goods. We can satisfy any person interested that no other machine has ever done or can do the kind of stitching perfectly. The price of the machine includes the necessary articles for using. When ordered, they are packed, complete for immediate use, and full printed directions for using are furnished.

Either of the Express Companies, or merchants visiting the places where our offices are located, afford a convenient medium for purchasing machines.

Great Excitement!

Among Carriage Makers.

THE subscribers have purchased the right to make, use and sell for the Counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis, Waldo, Hancock, Washington and Aroostook. The advantages of the above Coupling, over the old method of connecting the rain part of the Carriage with the hind wheels are that it must come into general use when it is properly understood. High forward wheels can be used, and we get rid of the fall in irons, as the wheels do not strike the body, and the carriage turns in a very small compass, the hind wheels not descriving more than 5 to 6 feet circle. It is perfectly simple, and not so liable to get out of order as the old method. Those who have used the above are fully satisfied of its utility, as certificates below show. It can be attached to old carriages at a small expense, and we are prepared to sell the right for shops, towns, and would sell a part of the above named Counties, at such a rate that any smart man, with a small capital, could realize a great profit from the sale of the above. Any person wishing information will receive immediate attention at our place of business, or by dropping us a line by mail, post-paid.

Everett's Patent Coupling

We have leave to refer to Messrs I. B. Norcross, Chase & Littlefield, and C. S. Coe, Esq., who are using the same. D. W. MORRILL & CO.

Corner of York and French streets.

Bangor, July 22, 1853

This certifies that we, the undersigned, have examined Everett's Patent Coupling and think it an excellent improvement, and have bought rights for using the same.

ZINC AND Fire Proof Paints,

Warranted Pure.

THE New Jersey Zinc Company furnish their Zinc Paints at the following prices

No 1 White ground in oil 9 cent per lb.
No 2 White " in oil 8 " " lb
No 3 White " in oil, 7 " " lb
Dry White of Zinc, 6 cents per lb
Brown and Black ground in oil, 5½ cents per lb

Their WHITE ZINC PAINT, equal weight covers, according to surface from 40 to 1000 per cent more surface than any other paint, retains its whiteness, brilliancy and protective qualities for years, is free from the poisons so dangerous to other pigments to painters and tenants of newly painted rooms and resists the sulphurous exhalations and foul air of ships, and assimilates or mixes with any other paint without injuring its properties. It does not turn such a heavy yellow as other white paints, and is not affected by the sulphurous exhalations of the Metropolis. It does not turn black in the most crowded rooms of the Opera House, Theatres, Public Halls, Churches, Steamboats, Factories, Dwellings, Shops, Stores, Warehouses, Ships, Boats, Railroad Cars,
